

FMP Story Beats

In the midst of a zombie outbreak, an injured lone explorer finds safety in an abandoned cabin, only for someone in imminent danger, to find him. This leads to his already dire situation to become much worse, but what they brought could stop the entire outbreak.

In a secluded area of a forest in almost pitch black night, we see the entrance to an abandoned log cabin. It's very quiet.

Adam enters frame with his heavy foot and begins to enter the abandoned log cabin with some hesitation, and in pain with an abdomen injury. He is very cautious, nervous, but very careful as he enters.

In this shot, we either:

- Establish that there is a zombie apocalypse with zombie parts on the floor
- Wait to establish the apocalypse until later in the film

He struggles through the hallway of the cabin, limping through with his abdomen injury, limping with haste. Toward the end of the hallway is an open door leading to a pre-rummaged kitchen. He turns in to the room, and briefly examines the

He puts his bag on the kitchen counter, and then falls into a sitting position on the floor, knocking over an empty tin can as he falls, not drawing much attention to the wound just yet, but more concerned with the sound made from the tin can. He brings his hand away from the abdomen injury slowly as he observes.

- The injury could be a Knife? And the knife plays a more important role later.
- He wouldn't have a gun, he exclusively has this knife that's inside him.

He begins to bandage himself using bandages in his pocket. He views a cupboard to the right of him, so he slowly gets up again to rummage through the cupboard. We see him moving very little as he rummages through.

Inside the cupboard there could actually be a med kit, creating a bit of faith.

DAVE quickly enters the room, with nothing really of a warning. He enters saying with some form of excitement "Hey! Oh my god! Are you okay?" Before being mauled by an incoming zombie which pins him against a kitchen wall and attacks him.

DAVE quickly enters the room. He enters saying with some form of excitement "Hey! Oh my god! Are you okay?". He explains he's been bitten. He tries to inform Adam, about an approaching horde, and that he has an antidote. He tries to give instructions to spread the word of the antidote (script) But, DAVE slowly starts turning quickly into a zombie himself. Dave zombie screams, alerting the horde within the forest.

DAVE slowly and suspensfully enters the room. He shows that he's been bitten, but that he's also carrying the antidote (no dialogue). DAVE slowly starts turning quickly into a zombie himself. ADAM starts to panic, and then Dave zombie screams, alerting the horde within the forest.

ADAM panics. He chooses to be resourceful instead of continuing to panic. He views the window directly in front of him, but also looks back at his equipment on the counter behind him. He has a choice of immediately leaving, or grabbing his equipment. The time of the zombie attack gives ADAM time to make this decision.

ADAM grabs the equipment, but the noises he makes alerts the zombie into coming for him instead. ADAM quickly grabs the gun, cocks and shoots to kill the zombie.

The sound of the gun shot ripples through the forest, which audibly meets a faraway horde. The zombies look, and start to run.

Back at the house, the zombie falls, and DAVE is shown to be severely injured, but not dead. As he knows he's almost definitely ruined his protection, becomes panicky and chooses to leave through the front door.

Knowing he can leave through the front door, ADAM proceeds, running past DAVE. ADAM looks down at him, but consciously decides to leave him.

In severe pain ADAM attempts to run through the hallway back to the front door, in which he steps out into the night of the forest. He looks around to see nothing but a forest densely populated with trees. He can hear the horse approaching and panics.

ADAM panics, he looks around, but hesitates too much, before looking down at his knife. In which he last minute decides to pull it out, and then stab the Zombies Head.

DAVEZombie now lays there dead.

ADAM looks back to his wound in shock which is much worse than it was before.

ADAM really struggles to leave the cabin. He moved through the hallway to the front door of the cabin, very disoriented, and then he stumbles and lands at the front of the house. The zombies surrounding him only get closer and closer.

We see an almost birds eye view of the zombie horde outside the house, running towards

All hope is lost, Adam is potentially going to die. Until he looks down at the antidote which he managed to grab. now in his pcoket.